Culture

Frida Kahlo

She was born in Mexico. When Frida was young, she was in a serious accident that meant she had to spend a lot of time resting in bed. To keep from getting bored, she began to paint! She had a special mirror above her bed so she could see herself, which is why she painted many self-portraits (pictures of her own face). Frida didn't just paint what she looked like on the outside; she painted her feelings on the inside. If she was sad, she painted it. If she was proud of her Mexican culture, she painted that too.
